

Planning
Your Career Day
Just Became Easier

Career Educators
www.ceducators.org
start@ceducators.org
(281) 813 5024

Career Educators is an empowering goal setting program designed to help school children of all ages reach a positive outlook for their future. Research has shown that early intervention is the key. Children that plan ahead and set goals for their future are more likely to go on to college and become successful in life.

Fifty Careers To Choose From

Future Police Officer

Future Teacher

Future Football Player

Future Soccer Player

Future Military Officer

Future Singer

Future Doctor

Future Astronaut

Future Artist

Career Information:
Physicians, or doctors, have an effect upon all our lives. When we are sick, they tell us what we have. They give us medicine and other kinds of treatment. They examine us and listen to us tell them how we feel. They tell us what is good for us to eat and how we can have better hygiene. They may be part of a team that works together for our health. There are two types of doctors: the doctor of medicine (M.D.) and the doctor of osteopathic medicine (D.O.). M.D.'s treat all kinds of diseases. D.O.'s focus on our muscles and bones. They stretch, knead, and align our bones and muscles to help us feel better. About one-third of M.D.'s and more than half of D.O.'s are family doctors, baby doctors, or doctors who know about our insides. They are usually the first doctors we see when we get sick. They tend to see the same patients all the time. And they treat all kinds of ailments. When they need to, they refer patients to other doctors, called specialists.

School Subjects:
English, Writing, Science, Mathematics

Education And Careers:
Becoming a doctor requires more training than almost any other job. It usually takes at least 11 years to become a doctor: 4 years of college, 4 years of medical school, and 3 years working in a hospital. A few medical schools let students go to college and medical school for 6 years combined instead of the usual 8 years. For some specialties, a doctor may have to work in a hospital for up to 8 years. You may also want to work for no money at a hospital or clinic to get experience. Students spend most of the first 2 years of medical school in labs and classrooms. They take lots of science courses. They also learn to ask patients the right questions and how to examine them. They learn how to tell what sickness a patient has. In the last 2 years, students work with patients and doctors in hospitals and clinics. There, they learn many ways to treat a patient's disease.

Future Super Model

Future FBI Agent

Sample Career Guide

www.ceducators.org

WHAT DO YOU WANT TO BE WHEN YOU GROW UP?

The Importance of Writing Your Goal Down

You've probably heard hundreds of times that it is crucial to write your goal down. But do you know why this step is so important?

When you put pen to paper you turn your thoughts into something tangible. You can actually see it, touch it, and even smell it if you want to. Your goal is no longer just a thought! It becomes something, what motivates us and creates a gut feeling inside.

Even the act of using the eye in coordination with the hand holding the pen makes a much stronger impression on our mind as we write out the phrase or expression. Now when we read and re-read that phrase or sentence the impression on the mind becomes deeper and deeper.

There is something semi-magical about writing one's goals down which makes achieving well-written goals an almost certainty.

My name is Jordin Morris and I want to be a
Doctor
when I grow up

My name is
Wesley Jamal Calhoun
and I want to be a

My name is
Whitney Youngblood
and I want to be a Veterinarian
when I grow up

President
when I grow up

"The students at Fort Concho Elementary LOVE Career Educators pictures! It helps them visualize their dreams and start setting goals to reach them! It has had a positive effect on our children and has started a campus-wide dialogue about "What are you going to be when you grow up?" We keep their pictures up on the wall all year so the children can constantly be reminded of why their education is so important! It is their favorite thing to look at in the hallways and they show off their pictures to everyone that comes to our campus! What a simple innovative way to get our children thinking about their futures! Way to go Ken!"

Lori Barton
Fort Concho Elementary

Dear Parents:

Beginning at a very early age our children begin to have dreams about what they would like to become when they grow up. Unfortunately they seldom capture those dreams or have a vision of what that dream might look like. Then in this all too confusing world, other events can come along to distract the child and take them on to other and often less positive paths.

CAREER EDUCATORS gives us the opportunity to change that!

Photographers will be at the school to capture on film your child's current dream about his or her future. Your child can select from any of the 50 different career choices or they can bring an outfit for a career choice of their own.

Because this program is designed on the theory "We become what we believe", the real value of CAREER EDUCATORS happens after the photo session. Your child will receive their picture, which will serve as a constant reminder of their dream. Secondly, they also receive a specialized blueprint for success that spells out specific steps that can be taken for them to achieve their goal. THIS IS A GREAT TOOL FOR TEACHERS AND PARENTS! Teacher's can then make the essential ongoing connection to what is being taught in the classroom and reaching that goal

Photo Date: _____

SAMPLE SCHOOL POSTER

Future Doctor

Career Information:

Physicians, or doctors, have an effect upon all our lives. When we are sick, they tell us what we have. They give us medicine and other kinds of treatment. They examine us and listen to us tell them how we feel. They tell us what is good for us to eat and how we can have better hygiene. They may be part of a team that works together for our health. There are two types of doctors: the doctor of medicine (M.D.) and the doctor of osteopathic medicine (D.O.). M.D.'s treat all kinds of diseases. D.O.'s focus on our muscles and bones. They stretch, knead, and align our bones and muscles to help us feel better. About one-third of M.D.'s and more than half of D.O.'s are family doctors, baby doctors, or doctors who know about our insides. They are usually the first doctors we see when we get sick. They tend to see the same patients all the time. And they treat all kinds of ailments. When they need to, they refer patients to other doctors, called specialists.

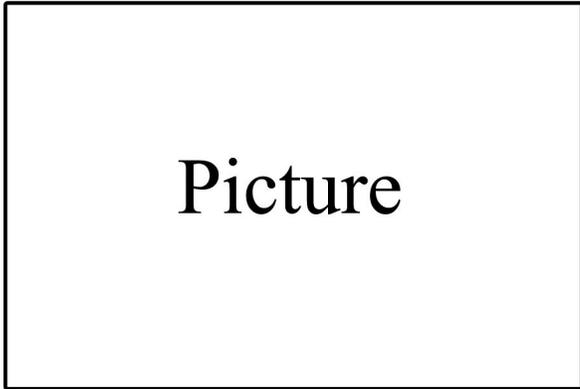

School Subjects:

English, Writing, Science, Mathematics

Education And Careers:

Becoming a doctor requires more training than almost any other job. It usually takes at least 11 years to become a doctor: 4 years of college, 4 years of medical school, and 3 years working in a hospital. A few medical schools let students go to college and medical school for 6 years combined instead of the usual 8 years. For some specialties, a doctor may have to work in a hospital for up to 8 years. You may also want to work for no money at a hospital or clinic to get experience. Students spend most of the first 2 years of medical school in labs and classrooms. They take lots of science courses. They also learn to ask patients the right questions and how to examine them. They learn how to tell what sickness a patient has. In the last 2 years, students work with patients and doctors in hospitals and clinics. There, they learn many ways to treat a patient's disease.

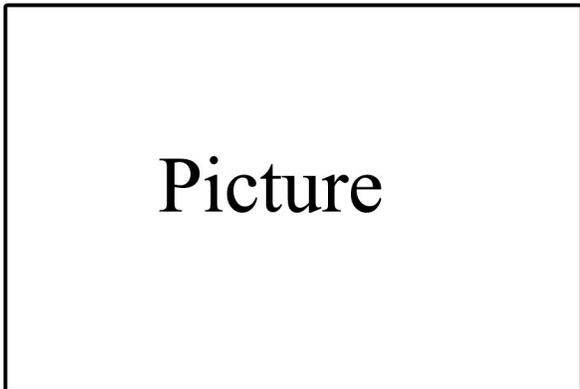

Career

Picture

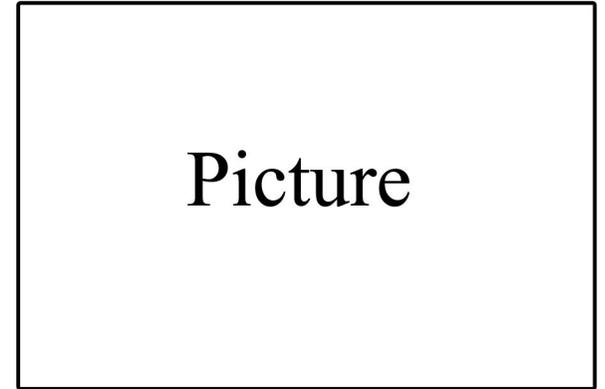

Home

Picture

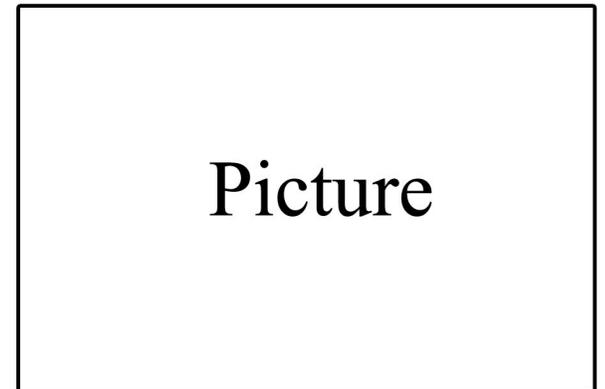

Education

Picture

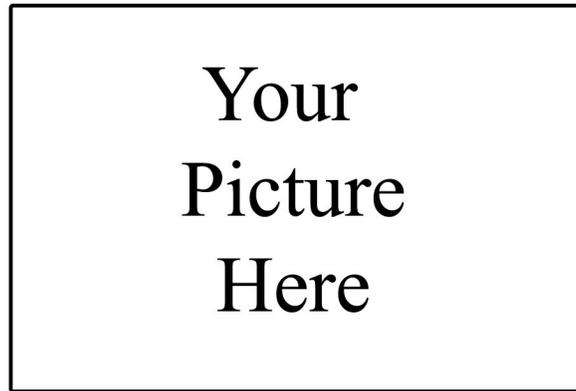

Car

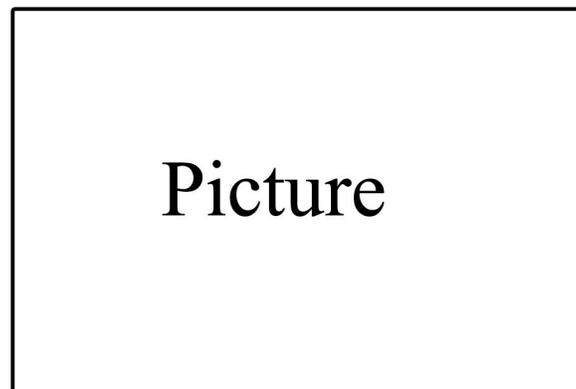

Picture

_____S
Dream Board

Your Picture
Here

Vacation/Travel

Picture

A Positive Goal Setting Program for Children

Career Educators is an empowering goal setting program designed to help school children of all ages reach a positive outlook for their future. Research has shown that early intervention is the key. Children that plan ahead and set goals for their future are more likely to go on to college and become successful in life.

The Career Educators “Career Workshop” is a free twenty minute multimedia presentation that motivates the students to start thinking about what they want to be when they grow up. The workshop has different colleges and universities within the state of Texas in it along with famous, influential people that they can relate to . The workshop also includes big homes and fancy cars, things that most kids want, however have no idea as to the type of jobs they will need to acquire such things. After the Career Workshop, each student will receive an order form and a dream board activity. The student will then set goals as to what they want to be when they grow up, the university or college they plan to attend, and the type of home they would like to live in.

The “Career Photos” offer a detailed occupation guide of the student dressed in their occupation with a background that depicts the setting of that particular career. The career guide instructs them on what that career does, the education level that is required, and the job outlook for the future.

Finally, A Program for Children That Gives Back!

10% / 15%
0-199 200+

FOR YOUR SCHOOL

Career Educators is not a fund-raiser program. It is a totally voluntary program and there is no minimum requirement as to the number of students that must participate.

Since we do not consider our program to be a fund-raiser, we do offer donations to each school that participate. Whether the donation is used in the counseling department or the schools general fund is entirely a decision based at the school.

The amount of the donation will be based however, on the number of students that participate in getting their photo taken. The donation amount ranges from 10% - 30% of the money collected.

